HERE IS YOUR REMEDY!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST MIRACULOUS CURE OF BAD LEGS AFTER 43 YEARS' SUFFERING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Galpin, of 70, St. Mary's Street, Weymouth, dated May 15, 1851.

To Professor Holloway,
SIR,—At the age of 18 my wife (who is now 61) caught a violent cold, which settled in her legs, and ever since that time they have been more or less sore, and greatly inflamed. Her agonies were distracting, and for months together she was deprived entirely of rest and sleep. Every remedy that medical men advised was tried, but without effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her legs was terrible. I had often read your Advertisements, and advised her to try your Pills and Ointment; and, as a last resource, after every other remedy had proved useless, she consented to do so. She commenced six weeks ago, and, strange to relate, is now in good health. Her legs are painless, without seam or scar, and her sleep sound and undisturbed. Could you have witnessed the sufferings of my wife during the last 43 years, and contrast them with her present enjoyment of health, you would indeed feel delighted in having been the means of so greatly alleviating the sufferings of a fellow creature.
(Signed) WILLIAM GALPIN.

A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A BAD LEG OF THIRTY YEARS' STANDING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Wm. Abbs, Builder of Gas Ovens, of Rushcliffe, near Huddersfield, dated May 31, 1851.

To Professor Holloway,
SIR,—I suffered for a period of thirty years from a bad leg, the result of two or three different accidents at Gas Works, accompanied by scorbutic symptoms. I had recourse to a variety of medical advice, without deriving any benefit, and was even told that the leg must be amputated, yet, in opposition to that opinion, your Pills and Ointment have effected a complete cure in so short a time, that few who had not witnessed it would credit the fact.
(Signed) WILLIAM ABBS.
The truth of this statement can be verified by Mr. W. P. England, Chemist, 13, Market Street, Huddersfield.

A DREADFUL BAD BREAST CURED IN ONE MONTH.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Frederick Turner, of Penshurst, Kent, dated December 13th, 1850.

To Professor Holloway,
DEAR SIR,—My wife had suffered from bad Breasts for more than six months, and during the whole period had the best medical attendance, but all to no use. Having before healed an awful wound in my own leg by your unrivalled medicine, I determined again to use your Pills and Ointment, and therefore gave them a trial in her case, and fortunate it was I did so, for in less than a month a perfect cure was effected, and the benefit that various other branches of my family have derived from their use is really astonishing. I now strongly recommend them to all my friends.
(Signed) FREDERICK TURNER.

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases:

Bad Legs	Corns (Soft)	Scalds
Bad Breasts	Cancers	Sore Nipples
Burns	Contracted and Stiff Joints	Sore-throats

A Certificate.

BANGOR, June 8, 1850.

THIS certifies that I have been certainly afflicted with sore and inflamed eyes, and having used several kinds of Eye Water without any beneficial effects was induced to try a bottle of MANN'S EYE WATER, which entirely cured them and also cured five or six other persons this was about a year ago. Last fall I procured another bottle and carried it into the woods with a crew of Lumbermen. Four or five of the men in the crew were troubled with sore Eyes. All were cured that used it, and I would advise every person who may be going into the woods and River-Drivers to carry this article with them. I was referred to Mr. Warren Brown of Bangor, and the men in his employ. This certificate is entirely voluntary, and I give it for the use of the afflicted.

WHITE ZINC PAINT,

After thorough test in Europe and the United States, has been found to retain its beauty and protective qualities longer than any other paint. For whiteness and brilliancy it is unrivaled. It is free from all poisonous properties so common and dangerous in other pigments; will cover equal weight, from 40 to 100 per cent. more space than lead, and is, therefore, much cheaper to the consumer. As an inside paint it will not turn yellow, even when exposed to the sulphurous gases of coal fires or the foul air of ships. Their White Zinc ground in varnish produces the porcelain finish.

Brown and Black Zinc Paints,

In a few hours form a hard and solid metallic coating upon wood, brick, iron and other metallic surfaces, and are remarkable for their fire-proof properties. They are specially adapted for marine purposes, having been found to resist the corroding action of salt water, so destructive to other paints.

Passing under the Rod.

BY MRS. MARY S. B. DANA.

"I will cause you to pass under the rod; I will bring you into the bond of the covenant."—Ezek. xx: 37.

I saw the young bride in her beauty and pride,
Bedecked in her snowy array;
And the bright flush of joy mantled high on her cheek,
And the future looked brilliant and gay.
And with woman's devotion she laid her fond heart
At the shrine of idolatrous love,
And she anchored her hope to this perishing earth
By the chain which her tenderness wove.
But I saw when those heartstrings were bleeding and torn,
And the chain had been severed in two,
She had changed her white robes for the sables of grief,
And her bloom for the paleness of woe;
But the Healer was there, pouring balm in the heart,
And wiping the tears from her eyes,
And he strengthened the chain he had broken in twain,
And fastened it firm to the skies.
There had whispered a voice, 'twas the voice of her God,
"I claim thee—I love thee—pass under my rod."

I saw the young mother in tenderness bend
O'er the couch of her beautiful boy,
And she kissed the soft lips as they murmured her name,
While the dreamer lay smiling in joy.
O, sweet as the rosebud encircled in dew,
While its fragrance is flung on the air,
So fresh and so bright to the mother he seemed,
As he lay in his innocence there.
But I saw as she gazed on the same lovely form—
Pale as marble, and silent, and cold—
But paler and colder her beautiful boy,
And the tale of her sorrow was told.
But the Healer was there, who had smitten her heart
And taken her treasure away;
To allure her to heaven he has placed it on high,
And the mourner will sweetly obey.
There had whispered a voice, 'twas the voice of her God—
"I claim thee—I love thee—pass under the rod."

I saw when a father and mother had leaned
On the arms of a dear cherished son,
And the star of the future grew bright in their gaze
As they saw the proud place he had won;
And the fast-coming evening of life promised fair,
And its pathway grew smooth to their feet;
And the starlight of love glimmer'd bright to the end,
And the whispers of fancy were sweet;
But I saw as they stood bending low o'er the grave
Where their heart's dearest hopes had been laid,
And the star had gone down in the darkness of night
And joy from their bosoms had fled.
But the Healer was there, and his arms were around,
And he led them with tenderest care,
And he showed them a star in the bright upper world—
'Twas their star shining brilliantly there.
They had each heard a voice, 'twas the voice of their God,
"I claim thee—I love thee—pass under the rod."

APPLETONS' POPULAR LIBRARY OF THE BEST AUTHORS. RECOLLECTIONS OF A JOURNEY THROUGH TARTARY, THIBET, AND CHINA, during the years 1844, 1845 and 1846. By M. Huc, missionary priest of the congregation of St. Lazarus. 2 vols. New York, D. Appleton & Co. 1852.

We have here two neat volumes of this popular library which contain a full and particular account of the novelty, danger and excitement, fresh adventures, religious rites, of a long and wearisome journey in a strange land and among a marvellous people. The story is one of great excitement, portions of which have been published in various forms and which have been read with the highest zest. The ground gone over is new, and the work unfolds very much interest in the every day life of the strange people inhabiting the regions travelled. There is a novel charm of fine narrative of personal adventure, running through the work which connected with the freshness of the incidents gives it a fine and pleasing quality.

This work is for sale in this city by Messrs. E. F. Duren & Co.

A gentleman presented a lady with a collar to the object of his adoration, and in a jocular way, said: "Do not let any body else rumple it." "No, dear," said the lady, "I will take it off."

John S. Sayward, Editor.

FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1852.

Whig Ward Caucusses.

NOTICE is hereby given that there will be a Whig Caucus held in each ward in the city, at the places of holding the election on FRIDAY evening, May 14th, at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of making choice of two Delegates to attend the Congressional District Convention to be held at Dover, on the 20th inst., also to choose two Delegates to attend the State Convention to be held at Portland on the third day of June next.

General Whig Caucus.

THERE will be a general Whig Caucus held at the CITY HALL on SATURDAY evening, May 15th, at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of choosing one Delegate at large to attend the Convention at Dover, and also to make choice of one Delegate at large to attend the State Convention on the 3d of June next.

A full attendance of the Whigs is desirable.

Per order of Whig City Committee.

May 13, 1852.

Ward Caucuses.

The Whigs in the several Wards of the city should bear in mind that the Ward Caucusses, for the election of delegates to attend the Congressional District Convention on the 20th, and the State Convention on the third day of June, will be held this evening at the usual places of voting, in each of the Wards. It is desirable that these primary meetings should be well attended. A very important political campaign now commences, in which the Whig party will probably again prove successful in electing their president, and it becomes, therefore, necessary that activity and zeal should be manifested, that good fellowship and united effort should characterize the Whigs. Harmony is the true strength that is now needed, and all that is required to insure to the whigs a right glorious victory, by the voice of the people, in the discharge of their high political right. There are extremes of opinion making it necessary for all to approach the middle path, which is the surest, the most likely to be true, and which possesses the merit of being practical. The whigs then here, as everywhere, should meet in their family councils, and like true and trusty brothers, forgetting their irritations of the past, exchange opinions, arrange difficulties, and come to a safe and reliable compromise, which shall insure to the cause the most united and efficient action.

The signs of the times, the indications from nearly all parts of the country, are highly favorable to the general result, and the brightening skies look cheerful.

The Whigs of Bangor are never backward in the good cause, when there is a motive for action, and they should now begin the campaign with their accustomed energy, prudence and zeal.

A Hopeful and Active Season.

The spring time of the year, like that of life is ever hopeful, cheerful, and active. In the culture and decorations of the earth, nature and art are called into the most delightful union and the intensest activities. The spring time of the year, like everything else, is representative and has its correspondence in the interior and spiritual essence of things. A faint recognition of this fact is seen in the various movements of religious and philanthropic enterprizes which generally characterise the season of spring. During the present month, as an instance, are held in the United States, the anniversaries of the various benevolent and religious associations. These annual meetings and the time of the year in which they are held are characterised by the New York Sun as exceedingly interesting.

The better phases of human nature now appear, and it makes one more reconciled to his kind to see that goodness and mercy are not so very rare traits of human nature. In the hurry and materialism of this practical age, it is encouraging thought that there are not a few earnest, faithful laborers in God's vineyard—men who are not discouraged by the frosts of winter, which nip so many plants of earth in the bud, and prevent them rising in beauty to heaven—men and women, too, who love to tend earth's young, spiritual plants, and nurture them up to strength and comely verdure.

And there are those who try to foster the little spark of life in the plants of withered leaves and decaying stem, and feel a heavenly joy when one is saved, while they mourn over the many of whom their hopes are crushed. The Spring is a fitting time for special exertion in such holy work—for Christian husbandmen to renew their blessed labors, sowing the good seeds of religion and charity, and renewing their trust in the Lord of the Harvest. May the dews and fertilizing rains of Heaven descend to excite their hopes and prosper their toils; may the summer sun not scorch but warm into vigorous life, so that when the Autumn comes, every well cultured field of Christian enterprise may delight the beholder and diffuse joy throughout the earth.

☞ The American Seamen's Friend Society celebrated its twenty-fourth anniversary on Monday evening, in New York. The annual report, in contrasting the present state of our commercial marine with what it was thirty years ago, stated that then our tonnage was a little over 1,000,000, and our seamen 50,000; now our tonnage was nearly 4,000,000, and our seamen 200,000. The receipts of the Society from all sources during the year had been 23,880 64, and the expenditures [illegible]. The increase of receipts over the last year had been nearly $3000. In addition to the above, there had been considerable sums raised and expended by branches and auxiliary societies. The Society continued its missions in successful operation in China, Chili, the West Indies, France and Sweden. It has also sent, during the year, chaplains to San Francisco, to Panama, to Rio de Janeiro, to Denmark; and has one under consideration for St. Thomas. [illegible]

SPIRITUAL RAPPINGS.—We have received a printed sheet with the above title. Its object is to set forth the actuality and truth of the spiritual manifestations in this city, and elsewhere, and to show the importance of testing the spirits whether they are truthful and good, or false and evil; and also of testing the qualify of mediums for a like purpose. There is an earnest zeal and apparent sincerity in this paper, and while this was written by a spirit in the body, it is stated that a similar communication was made by a medium spirit in the other life.

We have never yet taken sufficient interest in the "spirit rappings" to attend any of them or in any way to investigate the matter. We have, however, heard many wonderful stories regarding the rappings and the writings, so that when we can find a good opportunity to investigate the matter for ourselves, we shall probably do so. That many of the recent communications are interesting is certainly true, from whatever source they come, and that they contain much that is plausible, and rational, and probably true, regarding the spirit life, we entertain no doubt. Those who have strongly opposed the idea of any good spirits rapping are treated up in an off-hand manner.

☞ The City Missionary, Rev. Mr. Wells, finds that certain persons have recently imposed upon some of our citizens by getting provisions and other goods in his name, stating that he sent them. He wishes every one to understand that when he wishes goods to be delivered, he will invariably order them in person, or send a written order. This will enable all to detect impostors of whom there appears to be a large number in the city.

It is now very desirable that all who are laying aside their winter garments, and not intending to wear them again, should deposit them with Mr. Wells for the benefit and comfort of the poor and needy who are ever in want of such articles. Bedding and all such articles, though worn and mended and seemingly of too little value to be prized by those in comfortable circumstances as worthy of being given away, possess a value, and when deposited with the Missionary upon whom so many calls of the sick and the dying are made.

☞ Some one sent a plough as a present, to a New Hampshire editor, the other day, and now the fellow modestly asks for some one to give him a farm. Moses Littlefield, editor of the Skowhegan Democratic Clarion, beats that all hollow, for, instead of being at the trouble of cultivating a farm, he calls for the products of the farm in their season to supply his wants. His last call was for a cord of parsnips. His great weight indicates that his calls are heeded.

☞ The Portland Advertiser states that, in a case of liquor seized in that city on Tuesday last, the liquor kept by George McKenn, while the officer was loading it, the woman the wife of McKenn followed him to resist, and he seized a butcher knife, some two feet in length, with which he struck at Pt. Officer Frank G. [illegible], and cut him from the top of his head to the edge of his nose into the bone. He just missed the stroke at him and finally felled him to the floor, inflicting several wounds upon him. He was taken to the watch house where his wound was dressed. The liquor was seized. A process has been commenced against McKenn for the assault.

THE AMERICAN DWARF. Mr. Howard, the American Dwarf, now on exhibition at Market Hall, where he has his new patent locomotive carriage, constructed by an ingenious mechanic in this city, and with which he drives, is quite an interesting man and very polite, and is an intelligent fellow. All who visit him are pleased with his company, and they find him although a little fellow only a yard high yet every inch a man, with a clear mind and a shrewd look, and able to write a poetry [illegible].

☞ On Monday last, as a lad 10 years of age, son of Mr. Edward Fuller, of Augusta, Me., was playing at some foreign cart near his father's residence, he fell from the tongue, and one of the wheels passed over his leg which he was unable to remove, and fracture both bones of his leg so badly that the ends protruded through the skin. The lad is in a precarious condition, and the accident to him is a sad one indeed.

☞ There was a powerful thunder shower at Saco, Me., on Sunday afternoon last. The lightning struck in several places in that town. The rain fell fast for a few minutes, with a slight mixture of hail. In Hollis, Me., the ground was white with the hail.

☞ A dwelling house and most of its contents, at Parker's Head, Phipsburg, Me., owned by Thomas M. Read, and occupied by H. D. Wild, was destroyed by fire 6th inst. A barn adjoining was also destroyed.

☞ The New York Courier understands that a protest against the treatment of Dr. King has been signed by the Americans in Greece, and been forwarded to our own government. It will doubtless stimulate some kind of diplomatic action.

☞ The Prophet Press states that it is not yet known fully how the matter will turn with winter wheat. Some fields are said to be badly winter-killed, while others present a very promising appearance.

It is stated that whenever the King of Siam, feels like having a little fun, sports he should [illegible] his rifle and goes a-gunning after missionaries.

Omnibuses are beginning to be constructed of iron in England. They are said to be lighter, stronger, and more commodious than those of wood.

☞ Charles Terry, said to be a native of Vermont, has been arrested at Abbeville, Va., charged with advising several slaves to abscond.

☞ We give our thanks to Mr. Cushing, Clerk of the Governor, for papers, in advance of the mail.

Kossuth.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

There were few, if any, persons in the United States, who supposed that our Government had any other motives in effecting the release of this wonderful man, and in offering him a National Ship to bring him to this country, but those of rescuing him from captivity, and offering him a place of safety, where he could not only be free from personal danger, but enjoy the blessings of freedom—and there is reason to believe, that he was conscious of these motives, alike honorable and just to our own enlightened community and his exalted worth—motives, which spring from that love of liberty which we enjoy, and for which he became a prisoner. However much we may admire his noble deeds and splendid abilities, or however we should honor his burning patriotism and distinguished virtues, there is a doubt, whether, considering the circumstances, which led to his discharge, and which invited him to our shores, he should have asked for anything more, than that hospitality and protection we intended to bestow, and he had a right to expect, and especially, whether amid the fine triumphs and rejoicings, with which he was welcomed, he should have told the American People, who were so enthusiastic in their greetings, that he did not come to rest in their land of freedom, or share their kindness for himself, but to claim their assistance to enable him to return to his own country, and renew the war for the restoration of liberty. He has claimed this assistance not only as a matter of sympathy, but in no small measure as a matter of right. We are reminded that as France helped us in our Revolutionary contest, we ought to aid other Nations with arms and money, in their struggle for independence. This argument would come more properly from our lips than his. The warm and eloquent appeals, which he has made for this purpose, though deficient in sound reasoning, have already produced a change in the minds of many with regard to the long established and correct policy of our Government—of not forcibly intermeddling in the quarrels of other Nations. Should this policy be effectually changed through his instrumentality, we may have reason to regret our interference in his behalf, and trouble for our own safety and prosperity. In order that our country may continue to be an asylum for the oppressed, we must preserve it from foreign wars and connections. In this respect we should follow the illustrious counsel—"Our Country, our whole country and nothing but our Country."

It is deeply to be lamented, that while we are mainly indebted to the arts of peace for the unexampled growth and prosperity we have enjoyed, the spirit of war, and love of martial fame should constitute leading characteristics in the American character. Perhaps there is no Nation in the world, which, for the last ten or twenty years, has done more than ours, to encourage this inhuman and unchristian passion, or to make the sword the arbiter of national disputes. It has done little or nothing in a public way towards establishing that needed tribunal, a Congress of Nations to settle these disputes. There are comparatively but few individuals to be found in this country, who are enlisted for the exertions and interest they have taken in this noble enterprise, to the approbation and reward, pronounced and promised by our Saviour, "Blessed are the Peace Makers for they shall be called the children of God." There is scarcely any subject that will command less attention or excite less sympathy in our community, than that of Peace. And it is a serious question which it becomes philanthropists and christians to decide, whether, if the object which Kossuth has in view, the liberation of Hungary from Austrian oppression, could be accomplished by diplomatic negotiation or the friendly interference of other powers, one tenth part of the money could be raised in our country for that purpose, that will be contributed to obtain this redemption by force and arms. It is too ungenerous to a brave a great work by peaceable means. The triumph, to be fascinating and splendid, must be secured by violence and blood. The prospect of a quarrel—European wars—a world on the field of battle, as presented in the brilliant colors of Kossuth, seems to dazzle the eyes of our war loving people, and they are impatient for the mighty and deadly contest.—There is one class of the community who should not advocate this appeal to arms, if they wish to be consistent with their professions, an holy these blessed precepts, which enjoin them to preach "Peace on earth and good will towards men." Ministers of the Gospel. "It's strange—it's passing strange—it's pitiful—it's wondrous pitiful," that such men can now be found, who would counsel their people to render any but peaceable and christian aid towards promoting the mission of the illustrious Hungarian.—They cannot be true to their God, if they are not false to their country. If they consider it their duty to recommend intervention at all hazards; let them come out like men—throw off the clerical gown, and put on the military coat, when they ascend the pulpit, and instead of opening the Bible, let them unsheathe the sword to explain their doctrine. How much more noble, praiseworthy and divine, is the work in which the eloquent, persevering and philanthropic Burritt is engaged. Like a humble and pious Pilgrim, with his staff in his hand, he has been traversing the Island of Great Britain and the Continent of Europe, for the purpose of scattering the principles of brotherly love and preparing the way for that glorious era, when "Nations shall learn war no more." Has he been obliged to leave the boasted land of liberty to find converts to his heavenly doctrines, or is our country to be deprived of the honor of building that grand temple of peace, which is to be erected on this earth, and for the same reason that David was prohibited from finishing the temple for the most high, "because he was a man of war, and had shed blood." It is to be hoped there will always be righteous men enough found in our country to preserve it from this signal judgment, or from any other disgraceful doom.

While many of our public presses are laboring to encourage the interventional views of this highly gifted and interesting exile, and to lead our Government to depart from its long established and settled principle and practice of non-intervention, I shall be glad to find the Whig and Courier, [illegible] and true to the [illegible] "Friendship with all nations, [illegible] but entangling alliances with none." It is very proper and commendable to consider all men, as members of one great human family, and to cultivate a spirit of mutual kindness and affection; but the obligation to interfere in national, as well as in domestic quarrels, cannot be drawn from this duty. It is very certain, that Kossuth, from his repeated explanations, expected our country would undertake, "peaceably if they could—forcibly if they must," to rescue Hungary from the grasp of her aggressors, and for this purpose we are told, "we should do as we have been done by," with the additional intimation, that by relieving him we have given a pledge to the world, that we will also liberate his country.

There is one circumstance growing out of the unparalleled honors paid to Kossuth, which is much to be regretted. By being more than just to him, we have been unjust to ourselves. It has been before been our pride and boast, that the great men of our country, both Orator and Statesmen, were as great as those of any other nation. But in order to carry our adulation for Kossuth, to its utmost excess, we have been disposed to place him above them all, and, while we extolled him, to look down upon the most gifted of the land, our Websters and Clays, as inferior beings. The great expounder of our constitution, must now be laid aside to learn from his eloquent lips the true principles of national obligation. While we admire him for his talents, honor him for his patriotism, and love him for his moral worth, let us not forget, that we have men in our own country of equal wisdom, eloquence and virtue. Let us not by our practice sanction the truth of the declaration, that "a prophet is not without honor, except in his own country," but let it be our ambition and delight not only to appreciate and praise the merit that comes from abroad, but to value and uphold with equal care that which is found at home.

Let us do all that can be done by intercession, by friendly and consistent offices, and by moral influence and example, to protect, relieve and elevate the destitute, oppressed and down trodden of all nations; but let us not rashly undertake any crusade for their welfare and redemption, which may, without accomplishing the desired object, involve us in difficulties as lamentable and ruinous as those which they endure. Before we lavish our money to restore the freedom of our Hungarian brethren, let us determine how much we should, if called upon, be disposed to give, to emancipate three millions of our own countrymen from a state more oppressive and humiliating, than any political bondage. If the plain and sober language of reason is not sufficient to teach us our duty, we may possibly be influenced by the counsel of the inspired bard of human nature,

"Be just and fear not—to thyself be true,
And it will follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."
JUSTICE.

* The writer of this article recollects no tribute of praise to this distinguished individual, more valuable or just, than that which was paid by an intelligent citizen of Bangor, when he said that no public speaker or writer in our country has furnished so many classic beauties of thought or language, and which deserves to be, and will be preserved so long on our leading books, as are to be found in the speeches and writings of Daniel Webster. Who will be now say that they should give place to the more eloquent productions of Kossuth?

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 11.

In the Senate.—Mr. Stockton made a long practical speech on the subject of harbor defence and naval wharves, and in conclusion strongly urged the passage of the resolution.

Mr. Hunter moved that the subject be postponed, in order to take up the deficiency bill. It was accordingly postponed and the deficiency bill taken up, debated, and Mr. Mallory's amendment transferring the Collins contract from the Navy to Post Office department, rejected. The subject was then postponed and the Senate adjourned.

In the House.—Immediately after the opening business, the House resumed consideration of the resolution for a recess, for the purpose of having the hall cleaned and put in order for the summer session. The yeas and nays were taken, and Mr. Sweetser's motion to lay the resolution on the table was adopted.

Mr. Stanton asked leave to make a report in favor of settling the printing accounts of Tom Ritchie—not granted.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Homestead bill.

Many resolutions were offered, debated and voted down. Mr. Brown offered a substitute for the bill—pending the question on which the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

FEMALE PHYSICIANS—FOREIGN OPINION.—Sharp's London Magazine, for March last, in a long article in reference to the movement in the United States, for the medical education of women, says:

"It is an unquestionable fact that in that great country, and among a great people reforms are in progress which while they startle us by their magnitude, stake at the root of many social evils, and lay the foundation of improvements, of which the universe will reap the benefit, hereafter!

"In England less than any country, in the world, have women been counselled upon cases in which women must have the surest and safest means for acquiring knowledge. It is not only a hard; but a thankless task to encounter prejudice, and it is a true saying, that custom is a second nature. But courage has been fertile in changes for good, and we may safely hope that the time is approaching when the custom under notice shall cease to be adhered to with a pertenacity that has so often proved fatal. There can be no doubt but that all classes of society would prefer to employ women in certain cases, if there were conclusive evidence of the fitness of women for a task upon which always so much depends; and who will be bold enough to affirm that if women were duly, wisely educated by system, for the discharge of such duties, they would be incompetent to perform them?"

Bangor Air-Tight COOKING STOVE

THE best Cook Stove ever introduced to this or any other people.
Having secured the sole agency of this very desirable Stove I take great pleasure in offering it to my customers and the public as this Stove was invented expressly for this eastern market by those experienced and expert Stove manufacturers Messrs. Estes & Whitney who know, and have appreciated the wants of this enlightened people. It is now offered to the public with the fullest confidence in its merits, and its superiority over every other Cooking apparatus ever introduced. The inconveniences for Boiling, Broiling, Frying, &c. are not surpassed and its extensive and beautiful Oven for Baking and Roasting, will at once recommend itself to the Ladies One very important feature is, it has very short and smooth castings, and being manufactured in the city can at all times be repaired if ever necessary in a trifling expense without subjecting one to wait for castings to be ordered from New York, Rhode Island, or elsewhere Every Stove is warranted one year, and one not giving entire satisfaction may be returned and the money will be refunded after 30 days trial
—ALSO—
A great variety of other patterns of cooking Stoves, such as the
Our State, Bay State, Empire State, Granite State, State of Maine, &c.,
All or any of which will be sold at extremely low prices
Elevated Oven Stoves—Hampden 3-and 4 Boiler and two Oven—Boston two oven Stoves, Forrest-Queen &c.—and that very beautiful pattern of Cottage Parlor Cook Stove, and in fact every variety of Stoves for Cooking & warming, worthy of notice, can be found at the Central Street Store and Furnace Depot, No 15, 17, and 19
